- "Doing it myself" is an important development step for small children
- Playfully implemented in cheerful animal scenes
- Supports independence and self-confidence

CONTENT

Amazing what the little ones can already do by themselves! The little mouse is putting on its clothes without any help, the little bear is brushing its own teeth and the little sheep is zooming off on its balance bike by itself. And the animals are mighty proud of it, too. Young children also want to do more and more things by themselves, allowing them to identify with the animals easily and see that doing things themselves sometimes works really well – and sometimes not so much.

THE AUTHOR

After completing her training in elementary education, Regina Schwarz studied social pedagogy. It was during this time that she began to write poems. Apart from poetry, she has published numerous picturebooks. Regina Schwarz's goal in writing her own texts is to motivate people to read (aloud) and to inspire listeners to be creative themselves. Schwarz lives in the Rhineland, is married and has three grown sons.

THE ILLUSTRATOR

Rike Janßen lives with her husband and son in Oldenburg, Germany. She has completed a degree in design and has studied illustration in Bremen since 2006. Rike Janßen has been a freelance illustrator and artist since 2003.
