ABOUT THE SERIES

The WWW series stands out for its playful, enticing way of conveying just the information that kids want to know. Centered on who-what-how questions, the titles in the series explore subjects of great interest to young children. The thousands of questions children ask daily are answered by means of interactive elements, engaging illustrations, and age-appropriate texts. Because the lively illustrations convey so much, the books hold children's interest even without an adult to read the clear, friendly texts. WWW is ideally suited for preschool and kindergarten ages, for children 4 to 7 years old.

CONTENT

This special edition marking the 20th anniversary of Why? Why? Why? is filled with extra interactive and moveable effects, bringing to life fascinating qualities of animals, both familiar and lesser known. A wheel demonstrates how far the sloth can rotate its head, for example, and a flashlight effect on another page sheds light on deep sea creatures that live in darkness. Even the chameleon on the book's cover changes its color! The hallmark of the series is answering children's questions and this title is no exception: Why does the octopus have such a big head? Are there any blue animals? Can animals tell lies? All this and more will thrill young readers as they discover special traits of fascinating animals.

THE ILLUSTRATOR

The illustrator and author Angela Weinhold was born in Geesthacht, Germany in 1955. She studied visual communication in Essen, focusing on book illustration. She has been a freelance illustrator of children's, youth, and school books for more than 20 years. She incorporates her enthusiasm for foreign countries and cultures in her work, and her aim is to encourage children to discover the world with joy and curiosity. She has written numerous books in the WWW series.
