ABOUT THE SERIES

The Star Court is a paradise for people and animals – a Noah's Ark, pony farm, adventure playground and circus tent all in one. Here, no one ever gets bored. The animal lovers Lille and Karoline, whirlwind Maja and the cool Felicity make sure of that.

Clever, mischievous and funny, these stories are written by successful author Usch Luhn.

CONTENT

It's the first day of vacation - and already one disaster after the next is happening. First the Haflinger mare Snuff is kidnapped (most likely by the unpopular pig farmer Brims, or his sons Tim and Tom) and then there is an unexpected addition to the population of Star Court: the clown Felix and his daughter Felicity move into the empty summer house. In contrast to their parents, the friends Lille, Karolina and Maja are not excited by their arrival. Why does this brusque and feisty Felicity make such a big fuss about her hamster, Faust? And since when is it okay to use Snuff's stall as a rehearsal room? On top of that, Maja's mother and Felix are suddenly acting like flirty teenagers.

But after a nightmarish observation, a late-night spying mission to Farmer Brim's barnyard becomes the top priority. Have the friends uncovered an environmental disaster, or even a pig murder? A thunderstorm forces the girls to make an early retreat - and unexpectedly shepherds a runaway mini pig into their arms. Lille takes over care of the animal, even though her parents, of course, must not know about it at any cost. But undercover pig Moses has nothing but nonsense on his mind and is completely resistant to any training. Unusual situations call for unusual measures, and so it quickly becomes clear that only a peaceful treaty with mini-pig expert Felicity can salvage the situation.
