In this beautiful story about friendship and sharing, a bear dreams of having a garden in the woods, but the other animals unintentionally upset him by destroying his vegetables and flower beds. Eventually they realize how unhappy they are making the bear, and make amends by planting a new garden together.

CONTENT

In this beautiful picture book about friendship, empathy and sharing, the bear dreams of having a bountiful garden in the woods, and works hard to make that happen. But each time someone eats his vegetables and destroys the beautiful flower beds. Enough is enough. He decides to keep watch one night to catch the troublemaker, but falls asleep. Saddened, the bear withdraws from his friends. Only then do the other animals realize that they've made the bear very unhappy. They are sorry, and to make amends, all of them join together to plant the garden anew.
