In the latest Thousand Dangers interactive story, the reader is on a scuba diving trip and has to decide whether to explore the Great Barrier Reef off the Australian coast, or rather a sunken submarine nearby. Both lead to further adventures ...

- These interactive adventures allow the reader to determine what direction the story will take, giving kids a greater stake in the outcome
- Each book contains many different adventures
- Very successful concept

ABOUT THE SERIES

An interactive approach to books: one title - many different stories! Because the readers themselves are the heroes in these stories, they are very likely to identify with them. The Thousand Dangers books have long been among the most successful titles in our program. The series will be continued with two new books every year.

CONTENT

You're an enthusiastic amateur scuba diver and want to explore the Great Barrier Reef off the coast of Australia with friends. Then you hear that a submarine sank nearby. Some of the group would rather dive to the submarine than investigate the flora and fauna around the reef. Which will you choose? Either way you'll be put to the test with a number of challenges, both in and on the water.
